Situated on the edge of the forest, Chalet is a stunning free-standing chalet with magnificent mountain views and a private indoor swimming pool.

Enviably location with inspiring views

Chalet has an enviable position on the edge of Verbier's south-facing plateau, offering peace and quiet whilst being only 200 metres from the main Medran lift station. It is possible for skiers of almost all abilities to ski back to the chalet's front door via a path through the trees. Set over five floors, this stunning chalet provides breathtaking views down to the Val de Bagnes and across to the Mont Blanc massif in the distance. In five brightly designed bedrooms, the chalet is able to accommodate up to ten guests.

Accessible by lift or stairs, the chalet's top floor is dedicated to a spacious alpine-inspired open plan living area with vaulted ceiling, an open stone fireplace and double height French windows leading onto one of the many south-facing balconies. The dining area, seating ten, is overlooked by a well-equipped kitchen.

Post-ski relaxation on the lower ground floor

The lower ground floor is tailor-made for relaxation after a day on the slopes. There's a private 11 metre indoor swimming pool and a steam room, as well as a massage room and TV room.

Five en-suite bedrooms with en-suite/private bath or shower rooms are spread over two floors. Four of the rooms offer fantastic views from wrap-around balconies. Other facilities of the chalet include underground parking, a laundry room and Sky TV.
